A close-up photograph of a white evidence tag. The tag is rectangular with rounded corners and has a red circular mark near the bottom right corner. Handwritten in black ink on the tag are the letters "A-62" at the top, followed by a horizontal line, and then the number "9" below the line. A red checkmark is drawn next to the number "9". The tag is attached to a white string, which is looped around a metal fastener. The background is a textured, light-colored surface.
